Council Dallies On Tax Issue

PAHOKEE — Commercial property owners tendered this week if the request of Joseph Kahn for tax exemption on a proposed new downtown business center will come up for discussion at Monday night's regular session of the city council, or whether the matter again will be tabled for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. Kahn presented his request at a council meeting in May. If his request is granted, he plans to erect what would likely be the city's largest retail establishment, which would also house a major chain grocery store. Time is a factor in his plans.

In June, Mayor Dick Parrish made an oral proposal to extend tax exemptions on new buildings to encourage renovation of Pahokee's downtown business district.

Both the mayor's and Mr. Kahn's proposals require a four-fifths majority council vote. The council has insisted that no action on the proposals be taken until all council members are present.

And therein lies the crux of the problem. At no meeting since May have all commissioners been in attendance. It was expected the tax exemptions talks — possibly vital for continued growth of Pahokee business — would be held at the regular meeting two weeks ago. But the tax matters were not discussed, as Council President George Tucker was in Chicago as official delegate to the Elks convention, and Councilman Loren Meredith was in Pennsylvania looking after farming interests.

Virtually all councilmen have been out of the city at one time or another this summer, and it is questionable that all will be present for Monday's meeting.

Dancing Gals Top Talent

PAHOKEE — A comely trio of little girl dancers took top place in this week's "Malcolm Millar Talent Scout Night" Tuesday at the Prince Theatre.

Winners were Mary Ann Friend of Pahokee and Gayle Parker and Pam Whitlock of Belle Glade. They won with a chorus girl dance routine to "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

Robert Hatten of Pahokee placed second, and Irene Lamb of Canal Point, third. Also on the program was a vocal duet by Andrews and Douglas, and Guest Star Linda Atkinson of Belle Glade. Schmidt's Pahokee Drug was program host.

In the first round of weekly contests last Thursday night at the Hugo Theatre in Belle Glade, Miss Atkinson was the winner, with Joan Bearden second and J. C. Lauder, third.

KEEPING VAUDEVILLE ALIVE — The youngsters above, 1. to r., Gail Parker and Pam Whitlock of Belle Glade, and Merry Ann Friend of Pahokee, getting tips on taps from old-time vaudevillian Malcolm Millar of Pahokee. Malcolm dug his ivory-tipped cane out of mothballs for this picture, but couldn't locate a straw hat similar to what he wore on the stage 40 years ago. Karl Mindlin's store had one, though, and loaned it for the picture prop.

Malcolm's Vaudeville Days Are A Memory But He Keeps The Flame Alive Among Youth

The nickel cigar may be a thing of the past and the circus a vanishing institution of Americana, but a Glades man who had years and years of experience in the theatre is doing his best to keep the spark of vaudeville alive.

The man is Malcolm Millar, widely known by Glades movie patrons for 20 years, who again this summer is nurturing development of youthful artists through his "Malcolm Millar Talent Scout Night" at the Prince Theatre in Pahokee and the Hugo Theatre in Belle Glade.

On rare occasions Glades patrons have had the opportunity of hearing Malcolm sing, and they've thrilled at his beautiful tenor voice. Usually he contents himself with rounding up Glades talent, rehearsing the numbers, and producing and emceeing his shows.

What his legion of friends probably don't realize is that Malcolm, himself, used to be a vaudeville star with top billing. He performed on the boards first with ex-Pahokee Fred Reynolds, and later with Mrs. Millar, on the old Orpheum circuit and Pantages and Sullivan & Considine tours.

Malcolm's career was rather fabulous. He was born in London, England, came to the U.S. and the state of Washington when he was nine years of age. When he was 17 he began his professional career as an "illustrated singer" at his local theatre. Between flicker reels he sang as illustrated still slides were flashed on the screen.

Thereafter he teamed with Reynolds in a black-face act called the "Alabama Dandies." In 1912 the twosome hit the big time by playing at the Palace Theatre in New York City, the pinnacle of the vaudeville life.

In 1913 Malcolm played in a musical comedy in a Dallas,

Tex. theatre. Across the street another musical comedy was playing, and one of its stars was a beautiful young dancer, a tap and toe artist. She and Malcolm met, and became married before the year was over.

Marriage broke up the Millars; Reynolds, the Millars developed their own act, Malcolm doing the vocalizing, Mrs. Millar the dancing. They worked the vaudeville circuit and musical comedy, and later appeared in serious roles in drama stock companies, where Malcolm played, too.

Rock and roll music? "This is just another passing fad," says Malcolm. "Just like 'Fogtime' and 'Jelly Roll Blues' were fads. Something will come along to replace this fad, too."

Talk without action, isn't worth a darn. Who's ever believed that they would be arrested for speeding, going 90 miles per hour.

The Millars retired from active show business in 1934 and came to the Glades to visit Fred Reynolds, who operated a store at Sand Cut. They liked the territory, settled in Pahokee and the following year staged the local American Legion Fair.

In '35 Malcolm joined the staff of Gold-Dobrow Theatres, and he's been an influence in Glades entertainment ever since.

The Millars have many pleasant memories of old time theatre days. Francis X. Bushman, old time star, appeared with them on occasion, and others they remember well were the Swor Brothers, Lasses White, Clara Kimball Young, Leona Powell, seen occasionally on TV, and the late Guy Kibbee.

Malcolm gets tremendous personal satisfaction in working with youngsters. He has a bit

RABIES

The "mad dog" alert is a serious situation.

For what you should do to protect yourself, your loved ones and your pets, see the rabies warning on Page 8.

County health department officials estimate the dog population in the Glades is about 1,600, with possibly many more stray ones populating cane fields and running loose.

It is estimated only 10 to 15 percent of Glades dogs have been immunized against rabies.

HENDERSON RITES MONDAY

Services for Daniel Marion Henderson, 35, were held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the Church of God, Pahokee, with Rev. G. L. McKee, officiating. Active pallbearers were Buford Justice, A. E. Funderburg, Teddy Bob Johnson, Cletus Scott, Gilbert Olson, Gordon Hoyle, Carl Boyette and Morris Harris. Honorary pallbearers were Joe Waddell, C. W. Herring, Earl Schultz, Dixon Cross, Raymond Hill, Elmer Upthegrove, Tommy Miller and J. R. Miller, Jr.

Members of the Pahokee American Legion Post 90 acted as a guard of honor, and the American flag which draped the casket was presented to his mother.

Mr. Henderson was fatally injured in an auto accident near Belle Glade on July 14. He had served in the Navy from October 1948 for four years, as a gunner's mate second class. He was living on Annona Ave. and employed by the Florida Power and Light Company.

Surviving are two children, Daniel Mark and Laura of Venus, Calif.; his mother, Mrs. Henry Moulton; a sister, Mrs. Marie Simmons of Homestead, and a brother, William, of Pahokee.

Wetherington Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements and interment was at Port Mayaca Cemetery.

4 BG Rabies Victims; Glades Mad-Dog Alert

The entire Glades area from Port Mayaca through Canal Point, Pahokee, Belle Glade and Lake Harbor to Bare Beach was put on the "mad dog" alert this week with the discovery that four Belle Glade residents have been exposed to rabies by a dog which since has been destroyed.

The Belle Glade victims — three children bitten by the dog, and one adult who became infected when saliva from the dog came in contact with an open sore on his hand as he treated the canine — are under medical treatment by doctors who say the malady is fatal without proper medication.

The hydrophobic dog was a brindle boxer only four months old and was owned by a resident in the southeastern section of Belle Glade.

What has caused the Glades-wide alert is the fact that the mad puppy came from a Canal Point litter, and it is not known how many other dogs he may have bitten and infected, which in turn could spread the fatal rabies disease throughout the dog and pet population in the Glades.

Sequence of events that led to the alert was: Puppy bit the children in Belle Glade more than a week ago. Taken to the veterinarian on Wednesday, the dog appeared to be normal but had worms. On Thursday it was de-wormed. Saturday the dog still under observation, died of rabies. It's head was severed and on Sunday sent to state laboratory at Jacksonville. Upon receipt at Jacksonville Tuesday, the dog's head was immediately examined, found to be rabid, and Palm Beach County authorities were notified.

At a meeting held Wednesday in Belle Glade, county health department officials mapped out a series of clinics to immediately combat the rabies emergency. It was decided immediately would be given dogs and other pets (at $2.50 per head) at the following clinics:

Sure, It's HOT! -- Here's What To Do About It

Health problems stemming from hot weather, and precautionary tips were received by GLADES OBSERVER in telephone conversations this week with Dr. William Gist, Pahokee - Canal Point, and Dr. Theodore Hahn, Belle Glade, as follows:

FROM DR. GIST

Two main things that bother us most these days are heat exhaustion and heat stroke. Heat exhaustion is more common in women, is not too serious, necessarily, and usually occurs in non-acclimated people.

Heat exhaustion may start with a feeling of weakness and faintness, characterized by profuse sweating without a high body temperature. It is caused by circulatory collapse and has nothing to do with exertion. It can be prevented by becoming progressively used to hotter climate.

Take salt tablets with caution and on advice from your physician, and try to avoid getting over-heated. Treatment consists of water, salt tablets prescribed by a doctor, and ample rest.

More serious is the heat stroke. It is characterized by high temperature and lack of perspiration. Perspiration is the natural control of heat; so, with no perspiration, body heat mounts. If body temperature remains high too long, it destroys the central nervous system. Heat stroke may be treated by placing the stricken person in a tub of ice water until his temperature, taken by mouth, lowers to 102 degrees. Body temperature can be brought down also by wrapping the patient in a wet sheet and turning an electric fan on.

FROM DR. HAHN

DIET: Eat almost anything moderately, but be wary of bacteria-prone foods such as cream and salad, tuna and chicken salads, raw poultry and cold meats inadequately covered or refrigerated. Eat lightly, preferably cooked foods.

SALT TABLETS: Don't take extra tablets without consulting your doctor, as too much salt is injurious in some cases.

WATER: Drink pure water only and plenty of it. Ice water is okay if you don't drink too much of it at one time.

SWIMMING: Allow one to two hours after a meal before swimming, don't show off in the water and don't swim unless you have a partner.

SUN-BATHING: Value of sunbathing is in the rest one gets. Don't over-expose, because resultant skin disease can be poisonous. Babies under six months of age should be kept in shade, others exposed for minutes only.

How can you beat the Glades Heat? OBSERVER gets these answers this week:

Mrs. Mae Pope, Pahokee Chamber of Commerce Secretary: "I try to beat the heat by thinking cool thoughts, like how nice it will be when we move into our new Civic Building next month."

Alvin Crow, South Bay City Clerk: "I'm too old to swim, so just try to relax and rock in my rocking chair. At city hall, we don't have air conditioning, but usually we have a good breeze."

Melrose Thompson, Belle Glade postman for six years: "Last week was miserable, wasn't it? I don't know how to beat the heat. I don't walk any more than I have to and use the mail scooter as much as possible. We use bicycles, too, but you generate heat pedalling them."

Harold Craig, Belle Glade: "My office is air conditioned, fortunately, so I don't have any daytime problem with heat. We don't have air conditioning at home, though, and I find I get drowsy earlier than I used to."

Clyde Brown, Pahokee: "Best thing you can do is find a shady spot and put your feet up."

Anonymous: "Go jump in the Glade postman for six years: lake!"

Better farming methods allow the 1956 farm worker, nationally, to produce farm products for himself and 18 others per year, says a news release. In 1910, the production volume per worker was for himself and seven others. We suppose this evidence of efficiency is worthy — a lot more farmers now probably have more time to fish or fiddle. They've got more time to worry about taxes and war, too.

SIKES HELPED WRITE IT: Another Southern priest is in the Record. When a group of southern members of congress met to draft the joint statement against the administration's so-called civil-rights bill, "he-coon" Bob Sikes helped dictate it. He pointed out that the proposals of this bill would be a direct invasion of states rights. It would give subpoena powers and broad investigating powers to a select group appointed by the President. Used in its broad terms, the powers of this proposed law would permit the invasion of businesses and homes of all sorts of witch hunters.

ERROR OR TRICK: Congressman Jim Haley either uncovered an error in a bill the other day, or discovered a cleverly concealed trick that might have nullified certain parts of the tide-lands law. The bill was before the House Interior Committee. Purpose was to prevent the Department of the Interior from giving land to the Defense Department for target purposes without the okay of Congress. An exception was being granted for areas under 5,000 acres. Had the bill passed the way it was drawn up, authority to dispose of submerged lands might have been given to the Interior Department. Careful study by Haley exposed the loop-hole. The bill was amended and reported favorably under Haley's direction.

LONG DISTANCE CHARITY: A letter of thanks has just been received by Congressman Billy Matthews from the children in an orphanage in Turin, Italy, the "Institution of the Sacred Family." The letter contained a beautiful expression of appreciation to the American people for their generosity and to the Congressman in particular for help. Matthews had asked the Committee on Surplus Food for Europe to look into the needs of this small orphanage when a friend of his, Raymond Bocca, of Gainesville, wrote to him from Italy and asked him to direct a bit of surplus food their way.

Hinsdale, Illinois
Got the hottest little pit of all time.

Gonna be a top dog in the money field.
Can sleep and do all this, too.

Now I'm one old dog who likes to learn new tricks.

And what could be newer and trickier than climbing into my delapidated, rumbled old bed some night and wakening the next morning with a thousand gold bones racked up around my satin coverlet?

My unflinching perception (called by some my suspicious nature) tells me that there is a clinker somewhere in this "rest and grow rich" idea.

But I think I'll send for the booklet, anyhow.

I'll let you know what the S'More is.

Since last I put paw to type-writer, in Pebble Beach, I have visited and revisited many a place.

Now at last I am heading East, stopping by here to see Boss 2's favorite little sister and brood. The boss is okay, but I kind of worried about her yesterday when she got into a tricycle wheel with some kids. They're more agile and a little younger than the boss — about 30 years in.

But Boss 2 is a real sport — says as soon as she can stand up straight again she'll challenge the kids to a S'MORE tricycle race, uphill yet.

In Reno, which is a large town surrounded by slot machines, lawyers, and unhappy people awaiting their first, second, or third divorces, I helped the bosses conduct a research project.

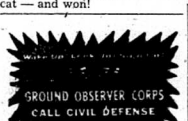

This project consists of putting a stack of silver dollars to the right of a slot machine, then Boss 1 feeds the silver into a slot, and Boss 2 pulls the handle and waits five seconds before saying (necessarily) "Damn it. Nothing."

When the research project ended, both bosses were pretty sad about something, and Boss 2 just walked away, clenching two silver dollars and alleging she was going to take them right on East for her nephew No Matter What.

I gathered there wouldn't be any more projects for a while — at least, not until Hialeah track opens.

Boss 2 claims she was clipped in Reno — but her hair looks about the same to me.

P.S. — Hinsdale, Ill. is where a woman used her ex-husband for $90 for non-support of their cat — and won!

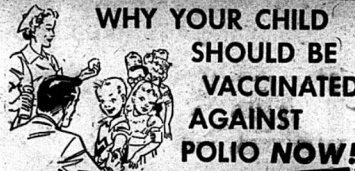

TROOP 28 WINS
COURT OF HONOR
Pahokee's Boy Scout Troop No. 28 continued its "highest" rating last week by again winning the Glades District Court of Honor held in Clewiston.

The troop scored high on scout advancement, participation, and attendance, by both scouts and parents.

Saturday Scoutmasters Louis Mims and Ed Carver took their proteges for a two-day outing at Horse Creek, 10 miles beyond Arcadia. It was a "free style" outing, but scouts worked on individual advancements.

Troop 28 has begun an ambitious lakeshore-clearing program at Pahokee Harbor where the levee fence was set back further northeast. In a summer-long project, they are clearing and pruning trees, clearing beach, and building tables and barbecue pits. The table is already using the scout-improved site, Mims said.

Cattlemen Lose $1,000 Per Farm - Needlessly

BY SPUDS JOHNSON

Someone has figured that Florida livestock producers can save an average of a thousand dollars per farm by simply avoiding needless losses. A thousand dollars is not chicken feed any time, and it is especially welcome when costs are high—as they are now—and income may not be all that could be desired.

Livestock Conservation, Inc., an organization devoted to efforts to help producers reduce livestock losses, estimates that United States livestock producers lose 214 billion dollars every year from mishandling, condemnation, parasites and diseases.

The organization figures that about a thousand dollars per major livestock farm, and each major producer has an opportunity to save up to a thousand dollars a year by preventing such losses.

"This $1,000 per farm would buy a lot of better living, education and comfort on most livestock farms," says Frank E. Knutzen, president of Livestock Conservation, Inc. But the average producer asks, "What can I do different from what I am doing now?"

The simple, all-inclusive answer, of course, is to eliminate the causes of losses.

Don't leave animals on boards protruding from fences and chutes. Don't prod or kick animals being loaded and hauled to market — use canvas slappers or electric prods. Don't overload trucks or cars, trying to crowd in too many animals. Don't let animals get too hot in transit, and don't jerk them around by sudden stops and starts while hauling. Be sure they have proper bedding to prevent slipping on truck floors.

Dehorn horned cattle, because one or two pairs of horns in a lot can cause a lot of bruises. And control external and internal parasites, which result in tremendous losses.

Mr. Knutzen suggests not only individual efforts but also organized activity, with perhaps a trip to a packing plant to see carcasses on the hooks, where bruised or discarded flesh is evident. A ham or beef quarter that has bruises trimmed out of

BG REC. PROGRAM ENTERS FINAL WEEK

The city recreation program in Belle Glade will enter its sixth and final week on Monday. The week's schedule calls for sports contests and tournaments. The champions of the various activities will be determined and awards made on Friday.

During last week and this week, due to the heat, the enrollment in the more active phases of recreation has been somewhat curtailed. Good attendance has been noted, however, at the quiet activities, which are directed by Mrs. Ursula Glisson. There are daily swimming classes at 10:15 in the morning, and golf lessons on Monday and Friday afternoons.

This afternoon the weekly special feature will be held at the Girl Scout Hut and will be in the form of a talent show. Last week's special feature was a hobby contest. Prizes for their entries were awarded to Beverly Kirkland, Sharon Bair, and Barbara Wolf.

Summer Freezing, Winter Eating . . . Tells Story of New Way of Farm Living

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

The title on the front cover of a recent farm magazine—"Summer Freezing, Winter Eating"—is particularly appropriate because it says, in a few words, what many rural people are doing these days. They're freezing a wide variety of in-season foods during the summer and eating them in off-seasons when snow covers the fruit and vegetable gardens.

Food freezers may be the latest type of upright design—like a refrigerator. They range in size from around 2 1/2 to 40 cubic feet of storage space. Those holding approximately 700 pounds of food are considered about right for most farm families. However, college home economics departments are finding that even small families which thought 7 or 8-foot cubic capacity freezers would be large enough are now discovering that they should have bought a capacity of from 12 to 14 feet. So, it is well to evaluate the needs of your family carefully, and buy the type and model which will be most economical for your requirements, as well as fit comfortably into the space available.

All packages stored in freezers should be labeled. To write on heavily waxed containers, best is pencil lead first—or use a special labeling pencil. Gummed stickers often become separated from packages during storage. In general, freezers should be defrosted once a year. Don't worry, however, if you get behind on this job. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that an accumulation of even 1 1/2 inches of frost on inside walls of the freezer does not result in temperatures harmful to food, nor does it cause operating costs to go up significantly. It does, however, cut down on storage space. Excessive frost often is caused by too frequent opening and closing of doors or lids.

Manufacturers of all freezers are only too happy to supply purchasers with information on the proper methods for preparing and wrapping foods for storage. And, the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has available a booklet, "Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables"—which provides a guide on the quantity of each needed to produce pint packages of them for storage. FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, Belle Glade CHRISTIAN SCIENCE GROUP, Canal Point

The ever-availability of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Christ Jesus' healing of the centurion's servant, as recorded in Luke's Gospel (chap. 7), will be among the Spiritual passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Truth."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (142:31): "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, today, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (86:1): "Teach me thy way, O Lord: I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name."

FATHER MARTIN SPEAKS SUNDAY IN PAHOKEE

Rev. Walter G. Martin will preach at 11 a.m. on Sunday at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Nativity in Pahokee on the subject "False Teaching." He will officiate at morning prayers, also.

The sermon, taken from Matthew 7:15, which is the proper gospel for the Holy Eucharist for the day, the eighth Sunday after Trinity, will be on the text "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly are ravening wolves."

Father Martin, who was formerly an Orlando newspaperman, became deacon-in-charge of both the Pahokee church and the Belle Glade Church of St. John the Apostle on July 1. He was ordained by Rt. Rev. Henry I. Lottitt, Bishop of South Florida, on St. Peter's Day, June 29.

YOUTH PROGRAM STRONG AT COMMUNITY METHODIST

Jerry Barry, summer church youth director, conducted special services at the Community Methodist Church, Belle Glade on Sunday evening. He talked on the subject "In The Thick of Thin Things," and installed the officers of the senior and intermediate Methodist Youth Fellowship.

The youth program of the church, which is attracting many young people, continues under the able direction of Mr. Barry. The program includes recreation on Monday evenings for the young people in the intermediate age group, from 12 years, and on Thursday evenings for those of the senior age group.

Plans are complete for the Daily Vacation Bible School to be held from July 30 to Aug. 4. The teaching staff is complete, a supply of especially fine literature has been obtained for the school, and an outstanding program is promised.

The school of missions for women of the church will be held in Lakeland from July 23 to 27. Mrs. H. E. Garrett is planning to attend, and others who wish to plan to go may contact her.

Rev. Sparks Speaks To Canal Point Lions

Highlight of Monday night meeting of the Canal Point Lions Club was a talk by Rev. L. A. Sparks, new pastor of the Canal Point Methodist Church.

Rev. Sparks served as a missionary in southern China until 1949 when he was forced to leave. He spoke on the language and customs of the Chinese people and illustrated his talk with some interesting pieces of handicraft — napkin rings, pen and paper knives of ivory, silk cloth, and a metal bowl which had been painted with some 600 costs of lacquer and then carved in a dragon design. Of interest also was a New Testament written in Chinese.

Vice President Gray Echols presided at the meeting.

Leo James, cadet officer of the Belle Glade Civil Air Patrol, left last weekend for a 30-day stay in England in connection with the CAP International Cadet Exchange.

“SQWK!”

Q. Sqwk?

A. Yes, Sqwk!

Q. Sqwk — what does it mean?

A. Sqwk . . . doesn't mean a thing.

Q. Sqwk . . . well . . . ?

A. Sqwk is merely the split-second sound you get when you pull out a sheet of paper from our famous “snap-out” office forms.

Q. Sqwk . . . hmmm . . . I see.

A. Yes, we call these snap-out forms “TIME-$-SAVERS” for you.

Q. Sqwk . . . well, it makes sense.

A. Yep, it does. Especially when you realize these snap-out TIME-$-SAVERS give you adequate duplicate copies of checks, bills of lading, invoices, orders, etc., for ALL your bookkeeping needs.

Q. Sqwk, you've got me. Who uses TIME-$-SAVERS?

A. Glades growers, packers, cattlemen, retailers—everybody who uses office forms and wants to do things easier and SAVE MONEY AND CLERICAL TIME.

Q. Gee, you've got me saying Sqwk. Where can I get this stuff?

A. At LAKE SHORE PRESS, publishers of GLADES OBSERVER. We print your forms as you want them, perforate and glue each sheet and carbon so they can easily be snapped out for filing.

HERE'S NEW DOPE ON TAXES

WEST PALM BEACH—Copies of Form 2265, floor stocks tax return, which must be filed by business firms which held floor stocks of merchandise and equipment on July 1 subject to new Federal taxes under the recently passed Highway Revenue Act, will be available later this month at the West Palm Beach office of the Internal Revenue Service, Director W. Tomlinson said this week. Returns of Form 2265 must be filed with the district office at Jacksonville by Oct. 15, accompanied by payments.

The excise taxes which were increased by the new act will continue to be reported and paid by the methods already in effect on other similar taxes. For each return and payments Form 720, the regular excise tax form, will be filed to cover the third quarter of 1956 (the first reporting on gas taxes and levies) and for subsequent calendar quarters.

President Eisenhower signed the highway bill on June 29 following its passage by Congress a few days before. It became effective at midnight June 30, and increased taxes on gasoline and other motor fuels, tires of the types used on highway vehicles, trucks, buses, and trailers.

To help finance the program, motorists are paying a penny per gallon of gas, which is commercial users of this fuel, and diesel and other special motor fuels. Since the gasoline tax is passed on to the consumer, it is assumed that inventories were taken and returned to the tax collector from which to fill out the forthcoming new Form 2265.

Mr. Tomlinson said that as soon as supplies of the new form are received he will make them available to business firms.

THE PREMATURE INFANT

A premature baby is one born two or more weeks before the normal nine-month development has transpired. Any deviation from the normal requires special care and treatment and so it is particularly true with the premature infant.

Many factors are involved in premature birth, some of which can be attributed to the emotional and physical health of the mother. That is why the prospective mother should be under the constant supervision of her physician. His attention to development, to weight changes and to mental and physical adjustment, is important to the delivery of a full term baby in good health.

The baby born two or three weeks before term may differ but slightly from the full term baby, while the baby born a month or more earlier needs sufficient stamina and proper development. Consequently it needs great care. This may be also true of babies who are born at full term, babies who are so very small and in whom special treatment is mandatory to preserve their lives. This is why all babies weighing less than five and one half pounds at birth should be treated as premature infants are.

Because difficulty in breathing is one of the serious handicaps of the premature infant, care immediately after birth is very important. This problem calls for special supervision by the physician, and frequently by nurse. Keeping the baby warm is the next essential. Removing the mucus or other secretions from the mouth or throat follows. When the physician is certain that the baby is breathing well, arrangements must be made to place it in an incubator or in some kind of a heated bed that can be kept at a temperature of from 80 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Then the umbilical cord which has connected the mother and child can be dressed and the eyes treated to prevent infection.

on gasoline used for farming purposes during the first six months of 1956. These claims must be filed on or before Oct. 1, 1956, with the district director. Farmers will be "entitled" each year hereafter to claim a 3 cents a gallon refund on gasoline used for farming purposes during each 12-month period beginning July 1 and ending June 30.

Refund claims may also be filed by other exempt users, including aviation companies and some transit firms, with the Internal Revenue Service district office. Claims must be filed by Sept. 30, 1957, for the year July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957. It is important, Director Tomlinson said, that accurate records be kept for the first year and subsequent years in which the act is effective. Users of diesel and other special fuels will either exemption certificates or claim refunds from retailers, who will enter any credit claims resulting on their Forms 720.

Certain tire taxes on trucks, increased from five to eight cents a pound. A new tax of 3 cents per pound was imposed on tread rubber. Excise taxes on trucks, buses and trailers were increased from eight to 10 per cent of manufacturers' prices. Users of heavy trucks and buses weighing more than 26,000 pounds will pay a special new pound tax of $1.50 per 1,000 pounds.

Floor stocks of all affected products and commodities held as of July 1 are subject to the floor stocks tax, and since press and trade publications carried articles and news items on this element of the program, Mr. Tomlinson said, it is assumed that inventories were taken and returned to the tax collector from which to fill out the forthcoming new Form 2265.

Mr. Tomlinson said that as soon as supplies of the new form are received he will make them available to business firms.

coming into contact with seemingly-normal dogs which may be rabies carriers. They urge all parents to protect children from stray and strange pets, and to report any suspicions of dog-bites immediately.

HORACE DREAMS

HORACE SCRUGGS

CANAL POINT—Horace Scruggs, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Scruggs, will likely be grateful to his many well-wishers in the Glades for giving him a chance at a dream. The dream is an all-expense paid trip to New York City and an opportunity to audition for the Ted Mack show. The dream will become a reality if Horace, who has already won in three appearances on WEATV's Kate Coffey Talent Show, can also win top place in the grand finals of that show which will take place in mid-August.

The numbers which have put Horace in top place three times in a row are a black-face song and dance routine, "Dance With Me, Henry," and "Henry Can't Dance No More," accompanied by Kenneth Williamson on guitar; "Sixteen Tons," in which he appears in a miner's outfit; and a black-face comedy number, "Balin' the Jack," the latter two routines with Junior Martin as piano accompanist.

Interested viewers from the Glades and cities on the coast have supported Horace by sending in votes to the program's sponsor.

3. Do not pet strange or stray dogs. Even though you love your own pet, play safe and assume — for safety's sake — that it may have rabies.
4. Especially keep young children away from pets. An innocent, quick motion may startle a rabid pet and incite it to bite.

6. Remain on the rabies alert at least until Oct. 20.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT YOUR DOGS AND PETS

1. Have them given rabies-immunization shots at least once every year.
2. Vaccinate all pets over 8 to 10 weeks of age.
3. Encourage your neighbor to immunize his pets.
